Raising the Bar

The section in the “Matthew” course on the Sermon on the Mount is entitled “The Bar is raised by the King”. In the Gospel for today we hear Jesus explaining how the old Law needs to be understood in Jesus’ ‘completion’ or fulfilment of it. This is indeed making the Law tougher!
(Matthew 5:17)

There are six specific areas in which Jesus is doing this, and there is a common way in which they are expressed. They begin with either “You have learned how it was said” or “It has also been said”. Having described the Law as understood by his hearers, Jesus goes on to say: “But I say this to you . . .”, and the Greek text is very specific here, and sadly is lost in almost every translation.

The Greek word for “I say” is “λεγω” (lego), but Jesus prefixes this with the word “εγω” “ego” which is emphasizing that the teaching is his. There is a similar construction in St John’s Gospel in the seven places where Jesus describes himself as the bread of life; the light of the world; the Gate; the Good Shepherd; the Resurrection and the Life; the Way, the Truth and the Life; and the True Vine. In each case the Greek for “I am” is simply “ειμι” “eimi”, but in each case Jesus prefixes it with “εγω” “ego”. Here we see a more specific underlying meaning, because every Jew knew that “εγω ειμι” (“I Am”) was the name of God Himself (see Exodus 3:14). It is with the authority of God Himself that Jesus is “raising the bar” of behavior from merely actions to include our intentions and desires.

We hear of four of these areas in which the bar is raised this week and the next two will come in the Gospel for next Sunday. They are: Anger, Adultery, Marriage fidelity, Truthfulness, Revenge and Loving enemies. In each of these areas Jesus is not abolishing the old Law, rather he is saying that God, who knows the hearts of all people (see Matthew 9:4), will judge on the basis of our intentions and desires, not just on our actions.

In the face of many of the problems in the world - violence, materialism, poverty, moral relativism - Jesus challenges us to ask “What can I do to share God’s love in the world?” Christians are called to be the light of the world, and the world will be impacted for better or for worse by the way we live our lives. When we, as Christians, fail to be saints, when we fail to live the Beatitudes and be light, the world suffers.

But when we imitate Christ’s love, mercy and generosity, the world will see our good deeds and glorify our Heavenly Father (Matthew 5:16). Though evil may still flourish in the face of saintly witness, we should always consider what good we can do to serve the coming of Christ’s Kingdom in this world. St John Chrysostom invites us to ponder what the world would be like if the entire Christian community lived in imitation of Christ. “Assuredly there would be no heathen, if we Christians took care to be what we ought to be, if we obeyed God’s precepts, if we bore injuries without retaliation, if when cursed we blessed, if we rendered good for evil. For no man is so savage a wild beast that he would not run forthwith to the worship of true religion, if he saw all Christians acting as I have said” (Homily 10 in Epist. 1 ad

Timothy)

(Commentary on St Matthew by Curtis Mitch and Edward Sri)

Radiating Christ
by Saint John Henry Newman

Dear Jesus,
help me to spread Thy fragrance everywhere I go.
Flood my soul with Thy spirit and life.
Penetrate and possess my whole being so utterly that all my life may only be a radiance of Thine.
Shine through me,
and be so in me that every soul I come in contact with may feel Thy presence in my soul.
Let them look up and see no longer me but only Jesus!
Stay with me,
and then I shall begin to shine as Thou shinest,
so to shine as to be a light to others;
the light, O Jesus, will be all from Thee; none of it will be mine;
it will be Thou shining on others through me.
Let me thus praise Thee in the way Thou dost love best.

Scripture Readings 16th February 2020, 6th Sunday in Ordinary Time, Year A

Writing about 132 BC, Ben Sira was a learned and widely travelled Jerusalem scholar. Today's reading is one of the clearest statements in the whole Bible on free will. God created human beings and – as an essential part of our nature – gave us the ability to choose between right and wrong, life or death. God notes our actions, but “gives no one permission to sin”.

The psalm praises God's law, which should be followed because it is designed to help us become who we are meant to be.

After saying he did not come using clever human oratory, Paul now tells the Corinthians something no human being could work out, namely God's wisdom – his plan from the beginning for our salvation. Because this knowledge comes to us only by revelation, we must be open and listen to the Spirit who reveals it.

Continuing the Sermon on the Mount in Matthew's Gospel, Jesus states clearly that He is not abolishing the Jewish Law. But He then goes on to clarify the Commandments – we must obey them in spirit, not just a literal minimum. Our free will should be exercised with wisdom, so that we help to build the kingdom of God here on earth.

(Matthew 5:32 is usually understood to refer to marrying within forbidden degrees of kindred.)

Psalm Response: They are happy who follow God's law!

(Sirach/ Ecclesiasticus 15:15-20; Psalm 118(119); 1 Corinthians 2:6-10; Matthew 5:17-37)

As a child, she caught Malaria, had then the nearest place for treatment was a long way away. Thankfully she recovered, and later trained as a pharmacist and cares for people with malaria, typhoid and other preventable diseases. She says: “I feel happy to be among the people. Through treating them and caring for them, I try to show them the love Christ shows us.”

Many thanks to Harry and Helen Charles who have offered to co-ordinate our parish's work towards the “Living Simply Award”. Anyone who is interested is being involved in this, please contact them, or speak to Fr Andrew

Saints this week

We are celebrating two saints' feast days and one other celebration; at first sight, an odd one. Why celebrate a chair? It is similar to the significance we place upon “the Crown” in this country, or “the Flag” in the United States. For us, “The Crown” is not a heavy and rather uncomfortable (we are told) piece of headwear, but symbolic of the supreme earthly authority in this land. Those in public service swear allegiance to “the Crown”, not to the item in the crown jewels but to the concept of the nation. The “crown” represents the unity of the nation, where all too often, the Government represents the divisions in the country. So the “Chair of St Peter” represents the unity of the Church: whatever differences we may have, we all share the spiritual allegiance to the successor of Peter, the one who (not literally, but symbolically) sits on the Chair of St Peter.

The chair of a Bishop is called a “Cathedra”, from which the building in which that chair is situated is called a “Cathedral”. On March 19th we will receive a new Bishop, and he will sit in his Cathedra. He received his appointment from Pope Francis, the successor of St Peter. Through our Bishop we remain in communion with Pope Francis and all other Catholic Bishops and people across the world. Hence we are “Catholic” (“Holos” means “Whole”)

The Servite order, whose founders are commemorated on Monday were wealthy men of Florence who in 1240 decided to withdraw from the world and engages in prayer and penance. Today the Servite order runs parishes and engages in chaplaincies, with a vocation to proclaim the Gospel.

Advance Notice

The Year of the Word

The evening of the dinner raising funds for Wordfest is drawing near, and if there are tickets left, it would be good to get one! (This is being written in January!)

Whether or not you can get to the dinner, Wordfest will be an occasion not to be missed!

The purpose of the day is to help us to grow in our love for and knowledge of the Scriptures. This is a fundamental part of our Faith.

If you pray the Rosary, you are meditating on events described in the Bible. Before each decade, you could read those passages, and having read them, as you pray the decade, be meditating on what God wants you do take from your prayer.

There is a saying that “Prayer changes the Pray-er”; in praying, we ourselves should expect to be changed. “Lord, teach me your paths” (Psalm 25:4)
