OUR VISION

A Time of great distress

Both the first reading and the Gospel today speak of a time of distress, but both of them speak of that not being a permanent condition.

The context of the readings is that of Christ's second coming at the end of time. However, although this is not the scriptural context, we can also read it as a word to our own times.

It cannot be denied that the Catholic Church throughout the world has been in, and remains in a time of great distress, and the failings and sins of many are laid bare.

It is no excuse to say that the seriousness of the sins were not fully understood, nor that the disorder which impelled offenders to behave in the way they did was not understood, nor that the motive for covering up the offences was to protect the Church. It is no excuse, but it may be some explanation, and it may help us to prevent such things happening again.

There are important lessons to be learned. We need to understand the real hurt and damage that is done to victims, and how best they can be helped. We also need to have structures that prevent this ever happening again.

The first of these objectives is being addressed by professional bodies with an understanding of psychology and different therapies, but this is still an area in which there is still much to learn.

Pope Francis has written:

“We have come to know the pain of many of the victims. We have realized that these wounds never disappear and that they require us forcefully to condemn these atrocities and join forces in uprooting this culture of death; these wounds never go away. The heart-wrenching pain of these victims, which cries out to heaven, was long ignored, kept quiet or silenced. But their outcry was more powerful than all the measures meant to silence it, or sought even to resolve it by decisions that increased its gravity by falling into complicity. The Lord heard that cry and once again showed us on which side he stands. Mary's song is not mistaken and continues quietly to echo throughout history. For the Lord remembers the promise he made to our fathers: “he has scattered the proud in their conceit; he has cast down the mighty from their thrones and lifted up the lowly; he has filled the hungry with good things, and the rich he has sent away empty” (Lk 1:51-53). We feel shame when we realize that our style of life has denied, and continues to deny, the words we recite.”

(Letter to the people of God, 20th August 2018)

In 2000 the Catholic Church in England and Wales commissioned the “Nolan Report”, which was published in 2001 and from then onwards dioceses and parishes have been required to make checks on all clergy and parish volunteers and employees. More importantly the Church has sought to bring in a culture of safeguarding at every level of Church life.

Six years later Baroness Cumberlege reviewed the provision of safeguarding in the Catholic Church, and concluded that the Church had become a much safer place, but that there was still room for improvement. She re-stated Lord Nolan's hope that there would be a “culture of vigilance where every single adult member of the Church consciously and actively takes responsibility for creating a safe environment for children, young people and vulnerable adults.”

This “time of distress” will not last for ever, The Church has been through difficult times before, but such times have been followed by eras of faith and strength. It is the building up of the community in faith and commitment to Christ that will provide the background for a truly safe community.

Pope Francis ends his letter of 20th August:

“If one member suffers, all suffer together with it’, said Saint Paul. By an attitude of prayer and penance, we will become attuned as individuals and as a community to this exhortation, so that we may grow in the gift of compassion, in justice, prevention and reparation. Mary chose to stand at the foot of her Son's cross. She did so unhesitatingly, standing firmly by Jesus' side. In this way, she reveals the way she lived her entire life. When we experience the desolation caused by these ecclesial wounds, we will do well, with Mary, “to insist more upon prayer”, seeking to grow all the more in love and fidelity to the Church (Saint Ignatius of Loyola, Spiritual Exercises, 319). She, the first of the disciples, teaches all of us as disciples how we are to halt before the sufferings of the innocent, without excuses or cowardice. To look to Mary is to discover the model of a true follower of Christ.

May the Holy Spirit grant us the grace of conversion and the interior anointing needed to express before these crimes of abuse our compunction and our resolve courageously to combat them.

Pope Francis

We are all part of the Body of Christ, and that body is hurting; is suffering. As a body, we turn to Christ our head in prayer, and with a new commitment in his service.

Celebrating 50 years of service to our community

Scripture Readings 18th November 2018, 33rd Sunday in Ordinary Time, Year B

The Book of Daniel belongs to “apocalyptic” literature, which looks forward to the day of the Lord at the end of history, when all will be made right. It was written about 165 BC to strengthen the Jews who were suffering bitter persecution. The hero, Daniel, is saved by adhering to his faith in face of many trials. In this reading, and in the Psalm, we hear an early expectation that the just will live for ever.

Our final reading from the Letter to the Hebrews also looks forward to the end time. The daily animal sacrifices in the Temple could not take sins away. They have been replaced by the one sacrifice of Christ, who now sits enthroned until he comes again. His perfect sacrifice made forgiveness available to all. No further sacrifices for sin will ever be needed.

This prayer invites us to think of the Parable of the Talents in Matthew chapter 25; one of the final parables of the Gospel, appropriately here as we come to the end of the Church’s year. Those who had made good use of the talents entrusted to them were told: “join in your master’s happiness”.

St Paul also writes about happiness: “I want you to be happy, always happy in the Lord; I

Grant us we pray, O Lord our God the constant gladness of being devoted to you, for it is full and lasting happiness to serve with constancy
the author of all that is good.

Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

repeat, what I want is your happiness.”
(Philippians 4:4)

The true service of God should bring us true happiness — that deep joy which is one of the fruits of the Holy Spirit (Galatians 5:22). This service is found in using the talents that God has given us; all the gifts that we have been given in the way that God intends; in the service of God, of the Church and of all God’s people.

An earlier chapter in the Book of Daniel, which we will hear next week, describes a vision of “One like a Son of Man” coming to rule God’s kingdom on earth. In today’s Gospel Jesus graphically describes the heavenly signs that will accompany his return as the “Son of Man”. Together we should look forward confidently in the Lord. But, as for Daniel, when this day will be is not known, except to the Father.

Psalm Response: Preserve me, God,
I take refuge in you.

Daniel 12: 1-13; Psalm 15(16): 5.8-11; Hebrews 10: 11-14.18; Mark 13: 24-32

Hope Centre to be made homeless

It is a strange irony that the Hope Centre is the Mayor of Northampton’s charity for the year and yet the Borough Council is supporting Midland Heart in evicting them from Oasis House. Ironically, Midland Heart has on their web page: (on Saturday 27th October, and several days after the announcement of their decision to evict the Hope Centre) “Oasis House is a revolutionary service that offers accommodation & support to homeless people in Northampton. There are 48 units at the scheme with 9 direct access beds & 39 move on apartments. Oasis House services are delivered in partnership by Northampton Borough council who have their gateway housing solutions team on site, Northampton Hope Centre who provide day centre services to the homeless by providing meals, clothing, training & activities.”

St Gregory’s parish have been supporters of the Hope Centre since its very start. There is an on-line petition at:

Annual Parish Requiem

The annual Mass for those whose funerals have taken place in the past year from St Gregory’s or by St Gregory’s clergy will be on Tuesday evening, 27th November at 7.00 pm. In addition to those who have died in the last year, any whose names are given during the half-hour before the Mass begins will be remembered. Those who come are invited to bring a flower as a symbol of remembrance — after the Mass, they will be placed at Our Lady’s shrine.

Throughout the month of November, the names of any who have died may be placed in the box under the Altar — at each Mass during the month, those people will be remembered collectively. May they all rest in peace.
